DETAILED ACTION

Page 2

1. This action is issued in response to applicant filed application on 03/19/2004.

- 2. Claim 1 is pending.
- 3. The information disclosure statement (IDS) submitted on 06/01/2005, and 09/29/2004. The submission is in compliance with the provisions of 37 CFR 1.97.

 Accordingly, the information disclosure statement is being considered by the examiner.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

- 4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:
 - (a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.
- 5. Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Garrido (US Patent No. 6,012,890, filed October 1997) in view of E-Muni Electronic Bound Volumes, pages downloaded from http://www.emuni.com/boundvol.html on 3/19/2002, last updated 4/18/1997, pp. 1-7 (E-Muni hereinafter).

Regarding Claim 1, Garrido discloses a method of obtaining and processing information for creating a document, said method comprising:

(a) transmitting a data packet to a remote terminal (Col. 3, lines 4 – 10, Garrido), said data packet and to enable a user to input document information specifies an arrangement of components for creating a document (Col. 3, lines 21 – 25, "book's contents and allow the reformatting of the size and type of fonts to accommodate the needs ... ", Garrido), the components including at least two of: a printed page, a tab page, a front cover, a back cover, and a binding (Col. 5, lines 50 – 54, Garrido):

- (b) evaluating the document information by utilizing stored properties for the components to determine whether it is physically possible to create a document according to the document information (Col. 7, lines 36 43, Garrido¹); and
- (c) receiving the document information from the remote terminal (Col. 5, lines 51 54, "receive electronic data sent by the CDU 1", Garrido).

Garrido discloses all the limitations as discussed above including user interaction means (Col. 5, lines 66 – 67, Garrido). However, Garrido is silent with respect to a user interface. On the other hand, E-Muni discloses information to generate a user interface (Page 1 and 6, E-Muni). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to incorporate the E-Muni's teachings to the system Garrido. Skilled artisan would have been motivated to do so, as suggested by E-Muni (Page 2 and 5, E-Muni), to provide users with online access via internet, to immediately delivery documents to the screen by clicking, and to save time by providing fully searchable indices. In addition, both of the references (Garrido and E-Muni) teach features that are directed to analogous art and they are directed to the same field of endeavor, such as, databases management systems, electronic documents, and user interaction. This close relation between both of the references highly suggests an expectation of success.

Prior Art Made Of Record

1. Garrido (US Patent No. 6,012,890, filed October 1997) discloses an electronic bookstore vending machine.

- E-Muni Electronic Bound Volumes, pages downloaded from http://www.emuni.com/boundvol.html on 3/19/2002, last updated 4/18/1997, pp. 1-7
- 3. Suzuki et al. (US Patent No. 5,923,013) discloses a print control system and method for controlling the system in page by page basis.
